

Holiday Lights

You are right to be concerned. In addition to being out of season and unsightly, those holiday lights can be dangerous! These lights are rated for outdoor use for short periods only and are not intended to be left up for extended periods. Over time, the sun and rain will decay the wires. This could cause a shock hazard or a structural fire. Anyone who has left their holiday lights out from the previous season should not turn the lighting on again and take them down as soon as possible. If we receive complaints about old Christmas decorations, a notice will be sent to the homeowner.